Mission Statement: "Duck and Otter Creeks Partnership promotes human and ecological health through education, protection and restoration of these watersheds with diverse collaborative efforts dedicated to building community stewardship."

What is the Partnership: The Duck and Otter Creeks Partnership is a voluntary 501(c)3 non-profit organization incorporated in 2000, whose members include citizens, local businesses, industries, government agencies, institutions, and public organizations.

What we do: The Duck and Otter Creeks Partnership works with many partners to help improve the creeks and their surrounding habitat. Healthy creeks improve communities and can provide enjoyment for future generations. Please visit our website to view our past and present projects.

Where are the creeks: Duck and Otter Creeks are part of an area that was called the "Great Black Swamp" during pioneer days. Today, both creeks flow through urban, industrial and residential areas to the Maumee River and Maumee Bay.

Meetings take place the third Thursday of every other month at 2:00 p.m. starting in January. Please call the Partnership ahead of time to find out the location.
